INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

L. Dwight Searcy
Naples, Florida

I have audited the accompanying balance sheet of L. Dwight Searcy (a sole proprietorship) as of December 31, 2005, and the related statements of loss and proprietor's equity and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of L. Dwight Searcy. My responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on my audit.

I conducted my audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that I plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. I believe that my audit provides a reasonable basis for my opinion.

In my opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of L. Dwight Searcy at December 31, 2005, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. The information contained in the supporting schedules on pages 6-8 is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements but is supplementary information required by Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the basic financial statements and, in my opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the basic financial statements taken as a whole, and in conformity with the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

L. Dwight Searcy
Naples, Florida

I have examined the financial statements of L. Dwight Searcy (a sole proprietorship) for the year ended December 31, 2005, and have issued my opinion thereon dated February 14, 2006. As a part of my examination, I made a study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control to the extent I considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards and SEC Rule 17a-5 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. This study and evaluation included the accounting system, the system of internal accounting control, the procedures for safeguarding securities, and the practices and procedures followed by L. Dwight Searcy (a sole proprietorship):

- (i) in making the periodic computations of minimum net capital requirements under SEC Rule 17a-3 (a) (11) and the reserve required by the SEC Rule 15c3-3 (e).

SEC Rule 17a-5 states that the scope of the study and evaluation should be sufficient to provide reasonable assurance that any material weakness existing at the date of my examination would be disclosed. The purpose of such study and evaluation are to establish as a basis for reliance thereon in determining the nature, timing, and extent of other auditing procedures that are necessary for expressing an opinion on the financial statements under generally accepted auditing standards and to provide a basis for reporting accepted auditing standards and to provide a basis for reporting material weaknesses in internal accounting control under SEC Rule 17a-5.

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance as to the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that the evaluation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgments by management. However, for the purpose of this report under SEC Rule 17a-5, the determination of weaknesses to be reported was made without considering the practicability of corrective action by management within the frame work of cost/benefit relationship.

There are inherent limitations that should be recognized in considering the potential effectiveness of any system of internal accounting control. In the performance of most control procedures, errors can result from misunderstanding of instructions, mistakes of judgment, carelessness, or other personal factors. Control procedures whose effectiveness depends on segregation of duties can be circumvented by collusion. Similarly, control procedures can be circumvented intentionally by management either with respect to the execution and recording of transactions or with respect to the estimates and judgments required in the preparation of financial statements. Further, projection of any evaluation of internal accounting control to future periods is subject to the risk that the procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions and that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

My study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control for the year ended December 31, 2005, which was made for the purposes set forth in the first paragraph above and would not necessarily disclose all weaknesses in the system that may have existed during the year ended December 31, 2005, disclosed no weaknesses that I believe to be material.

Furthermore, I determined that L. Dwight Searcy (a sole proprietorship) is exempt from the Computation for Reserve Requirements for Broker-Dealers under Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission because of exemption provided under Rule 15c3-3 (K) (1).
